ADULT PROGRAMS

EFFECTS OF GLACIERS ON WISCONSIN

Saturday, November 4 10:00 AM

Are you looking for an educational way to spend a Saturday morning? How about participating in the Wisconsin Science Festival here at the library? The Wisconsin Science Festival is a statewide celebration of all things science-related. We will be celebrating by hosting a special presentation by Dr. Lucas Zoet, Assistant Professor in UW-Madison's Department of Geoscience. Dr. Zoet will be talking about how the geologic remains of glaciers can help us better understand the processes active in modern day glaciers. All are welcome to attend this free event.

SPIRITUAL CURRENTS:

NATIVE AMERICAN and WORLD SOUND EXPLORATIONS
